CARLISLE.

WHEREAS a certain Act was passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 17th Year of the Reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Chapter 17, entitled "An Act to make further provision for defining the Boundaries of Counties, Baronies, Half-Baronies, Parishes, Townlands, and other Divisions and Denominations of Land in Ireland for public purposes;" and a certain other Act was passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 20th and 21st Years of the Reign of Her said Majesty, Chapter 45, entitled "An Act to make further provision for defining the Boundaries of certain Denominations of Land in Ireland for public purposes;" and also a certain other Act was passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 22nd and 23rd Years of the Reign of Her said Majesty, Chapter 8, entitled "An Act to amend the Act of the 20th and 21st Years of Victoria, Chapter 45, relating to the Survey of Boundaries in Ireland."

And whereas Sir Richard Griffith, Bart., being the "Boundary Surveyor" in that behalf duly appointed, having found that changes and alterations had taken place in the courses of certain Rivers, Streams, and Fences, which had before formed the Boundary in certain places of the County Down, and of the adjoining Counties Antrim and Armagh, and of several Baronies, Parishes, Townlands, or other Divisions or Denominations of Land in the said County of Down, and that Land had been reclaimed from the Sea, and from tidal Rivers and Lakes, he, the said Sir Richard Griffith, did ascertain, define, and mark out the present acknowledged or reputed Boundaries of such portions of the said Counties, Baronies, Parishes, Townlands, and other Divisions or Denominations of Land, as he deemed it necessary to ascertain, define, or mark out, the particulars whereof respectively are stated and described in a certain Report and Plans, showing in detail the original Boundaries of the same Counties, Baronies, Parishes, Townlands, or other Denominations, as laid down in Maps, together with the Boundaries proposed to be substituted therefor.

And whereas, no appeals having been taken to the definition and marking out of Boundaries so defined and marked out as aforesaid, the said Sir Richard Griffith, as such Boundary Surveyor, duly submitted to the Grand Jury of the said County of Down for approval, a Report setting forth in detail the proposed alterations in such Boundaries, with the grounds for making the same, accompanied by a Map, showing the Boundary or Boundaries as originally laid down on the Ordnance Plans of such County or other Denominations, and which said Report was approved of by the Grand Jury of said County of Down, and filed by the presiding Judge of Assize, at an Assize holden at Downpatrick, in and for said County of Down, at the Spring Assizes for the year 1858, and again at the Spring Assizes for the year 1859; and a like Report, accompanied by a Map as aforesaid, was submitted to the Grand Jury of each of the adjoining Counties of Antrim and Armagh, which said Reports were also respectively approved of by the Grand Jury of each of said Counties of Antrim and Armagh; and the same Report and Maps, after such approval as last aforesaid, were filed by the presiding Judge of Assize at an Assizes holden at Belfast, in and for said County of Antrim, at the Spring Assizes for the year 1858; and the same Report and Maps, after such approval as last aforesaid, were also filed by the presiding Judge of Assize, at an Assizes holden at Armagh, in and for said County of Armagh, at the Spring Assizes of the year 1859.

And whereas the said Sir Richard Griffith, as such Boundary Surveyor as aforesaid, with all convenient speed, after such alterations had been filed by the said Judges of Assize for the said Counties of Down, Antrim, and Armagh, respectively, prepared and made out a Report in detail of the proposed alterations in the said Boundaries, with the grounds for making such alterations, accompanied by a Plan or Plans showing in detail the original Boundaries as laid down on the Ordnance Plans, and which for easy reference he coloured Red, and said Plan or Plans, also showing in detail the Boundaries proposed to be substituted, and which proposed substituted Boundaries he coloured Blue on said Ordnance Plans, and hath submitted the same to the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council; and said Report and Plans are herunto annexed.

And We do further Order, Fix, and Declare, that this our Order shall take effect from the First day of November, in this present year, 1860.
